The Modern Warehouse

In the dynamic landscape of modern logistics, warehouses have transformed into the bustling hearts of supply chains. With the surge in automation, robotics, kitting, value-added services and labor volatility, warehouses have evolved into complex ecosystems. The modern warehouse can present challenges for logistics leaders:

- Lack of visibility to real-time throughput and order execution
- Right resources not in the right place when needed
- Time, cost, and approach of adding technologies
- Sub-optimal picking execution
- Difficulty meeting carrier cut-o times and ensuring SLAs
- Inconsistent materials handling equipment utilization

Enter Warehouse Execution Systems

Warehouse Execution Systems (WES), a response to the challenges faced by today's warehouses, have emerged as the best way to manage this evolution. Softeon offers a fully integrated WES along with our Warehouse Management System (WMS) that helps supply chain leaders manage broad and complex integration along with warehouse orchestration. In other words, Softeon's WES becomes the central nervous system of your warehouse. Capabilities include:

- Real-time visibility to throughput and bottlenecks
- Automated order release based on priorities and service commitments
- Wave, waveless or dual order release processing
- Optimized, configurable optimization by picking area/technology
- Advanced labor planning using simulation
- Direct management of picking sub-systems
